REMARKS OF MR. BARRINGER.,

On the Bill to amend the Constitution of the State.

Mr. Speaker: I am clear in the opinion, sir, that the only fair and safe mode of amending the Constitution is through a Convention of the people themselves. Let us first submit it to them to say, whether or not, they desire any change in their organic law. If they decide for a change, it will then be proper, to call a convention—on a basis of representation, acceptable to all sections—in which we will be enabled to bring together, for this sole and express purpose, our wisest and best men, irrespective of party, and unbiased by party influences. The work thus done, sir, will be well done; and will be worthy of being called a Constitution. And with the change thus effected, the public mind would be content and satisfied. There would be an end to agitation.

But, sir, according to the signs of the times, the edict has gone forth, that the Freemen of North Carolina shall not be allowed to amend their constitution, after this plain, honest, republican way. We are told, sir, that the Legislature possesses the superior wisdom; and that, over and above the ordinary duties of legislation, we are sent here for the purpose of making constitutions! If therefore, the majority here are determined to arrogate to themselves this high prerogative, and the Legislature is forced to enter upon this new career, I desire to see the work completed as speedily as possible.—Let us grant, at once, all the changes demanded by the public voice. If, sir, this General Assembly is prepared to say, that our constituents have authorized us to alter the constitution in regard to Free Suffrage; it is equally clear, they have declared for the popular election of Judges and Justices of the Peace. Not only have both political parties favored these two last measures, by the action of their late State Conventions; but, sir, Gov. Reid himself (to whose opinions on Free Suffrage so much deference is paid) has specially commended them by name, to the Legislature, in his recent inaugural. I take it, that these measures are ultimately to prevail. Then, I ask, sir, if we pass one, why not pass all? Let them go together, to await the action of the next General Assembly, and the final ratification of the people. Even thus, it will require between three and six years to consummate either one or all of these measures. But, to pass them simply and separately, will keep them hung up before the Legislature and the country not less than eight or ten years, at a heavy cost, as food for agitation and as obstructions to the public business. A Convention would dispose of them all in less than twelve months.

With these views, sir, I have offered the amendment now under consideration, to elect Justices of the Peace by the people. This I have always been in favor of. I regard our present system the most abominable, the world ever saw. Your magistrates, at present, are not only appointed in a mode discreditable to all parties; but they are wholly irresponsible, and have no inducement whatever to study and apply themselves to the public interests. The system is confusion and disorder throughout—a nuisance to the public and a nuisance to the Legislature. Its errors and abuses will never be corrected until you reduce the number of your Magistrates, elect them by districts for a term of years, pay them for their services, require them to keep records, and hold them to a strict accountability.

But, Mr. Speaker, I am, on principle, sir, opposed to the Legislature undertaking, in any shape or form, to amend the constitution, which we are sworn to support, and under which we are sent here to legislate. If that sacred instrument is to exist only at the will and pleasure of the General Assembly, then it were better, it should have no existence at all. Sir, it was never designed that the fundamental law of the land should be overturned and destroyed by a body, itself the mere creature of that law, and both existing and depending upon the people themselves. That provison was only intended for less important, specific alterations, in the propriety of which all concurred. And I deplore the day, sir, when demagogueism first so far triumphed in North Carolina, as to succeed in mixing up with Party and with the legislation of the Country, these great questions of Constitutional Right. Its pernicious effects are already seen and felt around us. Less than three years ago, the popular mind was undisturbed by a single proposition of the kind. But, sir, the very moment this party cry was raised, and we were told that the Legislature was a proper body for amending the constitution, the murmerings of discontent are heard—a storm gathers in upon the people of the State—and your tables now groan with budgets of Constitutional Reform! We have before us no less than ten or a dozen distinct projects for over-hauling and re-modeling our organic law. And, sir, this policy once begun, will never cease, until every vestige of your present constitution is scattered to the winds. And then the work of destruction will again commence upon the very structure you have just erected in its stead. The first great duty of every free people, is to adopt their constitution, and then inculcate upon all, the solemn obligation of respecting, revering and obeying it. To do this, you must keep it out of the scramble of Legislative warfare, and lift it above the dirt and mire of Party strife. When changes are absolutely necessary, let them be made, by appealing to the sovereign voice of the people themselves.

Mr. Speaker: Let this Senate now violate these great principles, and once enter upon this new and untried experiment of every two years tinkering and tampering with the Constitution, what terrible and disastrous consequences must come upon us! Not only the one hundred and seventy members of the General Assembly will bi-annually meet together in this City, fresh from the hustings, and eager in their new vocation; but, sir, every Newspaper Editor, and every aspirant for popular favor, down to Clerks and Constables, will enter the lists as Constitutional Reformers! Questions affecting Right and Freedom, (whether in substance or in form) must ever over-ride all others; and if this precedent is now set, for the next twenty years the legislature will do literally nothing but amend the Constitution. This Hall will witness scenes never before enacted in the history of North Carolina, and to which, those we have recently beheld in the other end of the Capitol, will bear no comparison. The people may bid farewell to all proper and wholesome legislation. And they will be made to feel nothing, but one series after another of ill-conceived, ill favored, patched up Constitutional changes, after this approved method by Legislative enactment!

For these reasons, Mr. Speaker, if certain amendments I design offering, are voted down, I shall oppose this Bill out and out. I am for Free Suffrage, but I prefer obtaining it through a Convention. I wish to let every freeman say at the ballot-box, each for himself, whether or not, he is content with things as they are. This is a right I claim for myself. I have no power to take it from others. I was not sent here to legislate away the Constitutional privileges and guaranties of the Senatorial voters of my District. That is their prerogative.

My constituents are neither agrarian, nor destructive in their principles, and are better able than either the Legislature or myself, to settle these dangerous questions. And to them I shall leave the issue of a Convention or no Convention. This is not only fair dealing and political honesty; but, sir, it is what I have always been taught, was true republicanism. This is the position I took before my constituents, and to it I intend to adhere, if the amendments I now propose are voted down.

The House took a recess.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Mr. Brogden, from the Committee on Claims, reported favorably the following bill and resolutions, which were read the second and third times and passed: a resolution in favor of Pulaski B. Williams, late Sheriff of the late County of Polk; a bill for the relief of Benjamin N. Selby, Senr., late Sheriff of Pitt County; a resolution in favor of John H. Roberts, late Clerk of the County Court of Gaston County.

Also, a resolution in favor of Wm. T. Hilliard. Read 1st time.

The bill to repeal an act of 1848-'9 entitled an act to give original jurisdiction to the Superior Courts of Burke County, in all cases which require the intervention of a jury, was taken up, amended, read the 2nd and 3rd times and passed.

The House then resumed the consideration of the revenue bill. The remainder of the afternoon session was consumed in the consideration of this bill. Sundry amendments were adopted. Immediately before the vote was taken, Mr. Rayner moved a call of the House, which was carried; after which, the bill as amended passed its 2nd reading—ayes 58, noes 46.

The House then took a recess.

THE GENUINE MRS. PARTINGTON.

Many journals in the country have perpetrated a variety of jokes at the expense of one Dame Partington, and the Boston Post has said some admirable things in her name which have been copied far and wide. In this way, many have become familiar with the fame of that simple-hearted old lady, who are ignorant of the circumstance which gave her the notoriety she enjoys, and many others go so far with their scepticism as to esteem her a sort of Mrs. Harris, whose name is merely a stalking-horse for the convenience of newspaper wits. This is all a mistake. There was a real Mrs. Partington, and she owed her fame to the wit of Sidney Smith, who, in a speech on the Reform Bill, at Taunton, in England, referred to her as follows:

"I do not mean to be disrespectful, but the attempt of the Lords to stop the progress of reform, reminds me very forcibly of the great storm of Sidmouth, and of the conduct of the excellent Mrs. Partington on the occasion. In the winter of 1824, there set in a great flood upon that town, the tide arose to an incredible height, the waves rushed in upon the houses, and everything was threatened with destruction. In the midst of this sublime and terrible storm, Mrs. Partington, who lived upon the beach, was seen at the door of her house with mop and pattens, trundling her mop and squeezing out the sea water, and vigorously pushing away the Atlantic Ocean. The Atlantic was roused. Mrs. Partington's spirit was up; but I need not tell you the contest was unequal. The Atlantic Ocean beat Mrs. Partington. She was excellent at a slop or a puddle, but she should not have meddled with a tempest. Gentlemen, be at your ease—be quiet and steady. You will beat Mrs. Partington."

THE CONVENTION QUESTION—INTERESTING DEBATE.

The Bill from the House, proposing to submit to the People the question of Convention or no Convention, came up for consideration in the Senate, on yesterday, and elicited an animated and deeply interesting discussion, which was participated in by Messrs. Shepard, Bynum, Caldwell, of Mecklenburg, Woodfin, Bower, and Thomas, of Haywood, Macon and Cherokee.

Mr. Bynum opened the discussion, in an effort which was listened to with profound attention, not only by the Senate, but a large and respectable auditory. He advocated the Bill, not only because it consulted the fundamental Republican principle of the Government, but because of its conformity to the usage of other States, and of the superior efficacy of Convention over Legislative amendment of the Constitution. His reasoning was most convincing, and his views, it appeared to us, so conservative, that they could have given umbrage to none, of any section.

Mr. Shepard next took the floor. He spoke, as he always speaks, with much terseness and vigor; but we could but be struck with the difficulties under which he seemed to labor, in defining the motives which had prompted his recent change of opinion on the question of Free Suffrage. He complained of the severity with which his position had been criticized by a portion of the Press, and of his colleagues in the Senate. So far as we are included in this complaint, we deem it due to ourself to state, that we have been actuated by no personal ill-will, but solely by a sense of duty to the People, in the one case, and the Union in the other. We have presented such views as we honestly entertained. Mr. S., we presume, has done the same. The exercise of this privilege, on either side, we conceive to be no cause of complaint in a free Country like ours.

Mr. Woodfin spoke at length. He, too, spoke, as he always speaks, with much good sense, clearness, and ability. Although represented by the "Standard" to be very ultra on the subject of Constitutional Reform, he declared himself a conservative man, and expressed the opinion that, in Convention, his People would be content with much less than was properly due them.

Messrs. Thomas and Bower seemed to think that their constituents cared but little about this question—forgetting, perhaps, that their colleagues in the House had voted—all of them—for the very Bill under consideration, and thereby indicated their willingness to let their constituents speak for themselves.

We cannot see what serious objection there can be to consulting the people on any subject—especially, when, as by the provisions of this Bill, it is not to cost a cent!

AGRICULTURAL AND GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

We are gratified to be able to state that the Bill, introduced by Gen. Bynum, providing for an Agricultural and Geological Survey of the State, has been passed through both Houses of the General Assembly, and is now a law. The Bill was introduced in the early part of the session, in the Senate, and passed that body without a dissenting voice. The provisions of the bill are exceedingly liberal and highly creditable to the Legislature which passed it. It authorises the Governor to appoint some gentleman of science, to conduct an Agricultural, Geological, Mineralogical, and Botanical Survey of the whole State, making it his duty, by himself or his assistants, to visit every County in the State, and examine every thing of interest or value in either of the above departments—to ascertain the nature and character of its products—the nature and character of its soil, as well as an account of its minerals. The whole expenditures of the Survey are not to exceed $5,000 per annum; disbursements to be made under the supervision of the Governor and Literary Board, and the Survey also to be conducted under their supervision. The gentleman appointed to conduct the Survey is to have the liberty of selecting, with the approbation of the Governor, one or more assistants, and to deliver lectures in such places as he may find it convenient, for the purpose of exciting attention to the subjects connected with the Survey.

No act, which has been passed this session of the General Assembly, will contribute more to develope the resources of the State, than this, provided some man of science and practical experience shall be selected to conduct the Survey. Nothing is wanted but an authorised account of the resources of the State, to place her in a proper position, and to enable her Legislators to act wisely in determining upon the propriety of adopting any plan of improving the internal condition of the State.

Many thanks are due to Gen. Bynum, for the zeal with which he has interested himself in this important measure.

LITERARY NOTICES.

Health, Disease, and Remedy; by George Moore, M. D.

The Use of the Body, in relation to the Mind; by the same.

Man and his Motives; by the same.

The subject treated of, in these volumes, viz: the reciprocal action of the Soul and Body upon each other, and the duties we, as rational beings, owe to our bodies as well as our souls, is one that will surely attract the attention and excite the interest of any man who is really—what many would wish to be esteemed —a thinking man; especially in this day when the connexion between physical and psychological phenomena is attracting so much attention. We have here many of the principal facts and theories of medical, mental and moral science; very plainly and simply set forth, and so little obscured by the usual mystification of technicalities, that they easily come within the comprehension of the general reader; and may be a source, not only of instruction, but also of entertainment. The Author is evidently a man of an earnest, thinking character, and in the exercise of his profession, has had many opportunities of studying the character of men under circumstances, when for the most part, all disguise and hypocrisy is torn away; when the hand of disease and the finger of death lay bare the soul, removing all those false assumptions of feelings and motives, by which men deceive themselves and one another. As the same opportunities come within the reach of few, we are glad to see a man of so high an order of intellect giving us, in so attractive a form, the results of his observation and experience.

SMALL POX.

We are gratified to be able to state, from the most reliable authority, that the rumor of the prevalence of this loathsome infection at Chapel Hill is entirely erroneous.

The servant of Mr. McCauley, recently brought from Richmond, had the Chicken-pox, and not the Small-pox, as at first supposed. There has been no case of Small pox, nor is there the slightest reason to apprehend that there will be one.

PRESIDENT FILLMORE AND THE SOUTH.

The Tuscaloosa Monitor, referring to the appointment of Col. J. S. Calhoun, of Georgia, as Governor of New Mexico, well says:

'It seems impossible to resist the conclusion that President Fillmore is sincerely desirous of proving to the people of the South that they have nothing to apprehend from sectional prejudice on his part. The appointment of a Southern man to be Governor of New Mexico must be regarded in this light. Had a northern man received the appointment, it would be said at once that the President wished to aid in bringing about that 'exclusion of slavery" from the Territories, which was charged to be the covert design of the Northern friends of the 'Compromse.' By this act, President Fillmore has shown that he is no party to such a sheme.

In reference to the same subject, the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Clipper says:

The appointment of James C. Calhoun, a Georgia slaveholder, to be Governor of New Mexico, has been illy received by the advocates of anti slavery in the Territories, while it has given proof to the Southern people of the determination of the President, tho' he is from the North, not to taboo them and exclude them from a due participation in public service, as has been alleged by some.

The introduction of slavery into California, by an alteration of her Constitution, is now regarded here, by shrewd observers, as certain to take place sooner or later. Every aspect of things in the new State looks to this consummation. It may be remembered that Gen. Foote prophesied such a result last winter.

The President has appointed, it is said, the Hon. Robert C. Schenck, of Ohio, Minister to Brazil.

Some b y — name unk o n — has left at the land ng at Gen'al Harri on's farm, at North Bend, magn ficent marble Monument in memory of he illustrious ex-President. The family have ot the least intimation from whence it comes.

BLAKE'S

Patent Fire Proof Paint.

☞ This most singular substance, in a few months after applied, turns to Slate or Stone, forming a complete coat of Mail, protecting whatever is covered from the action of Fire and Weather. It has now been tested more than six years and shows that TIME and the ELEMENTS only seem to indurate or harden the substance; it seems to be a perfect desideratum for all outside painting that has for centuries been sought in vain. For all descriptions of buildings, either Brick, Wood, or roofs of Wood or Metal, there is nothing equal to it. So highly are its Fire proof qualities appreciated in Akron, Ohio, where it is best known, that all the Insurance Companies have published that they will Insure Buildings well covered with it at a much lower premium than those covered with Tin or Zinc, as it has been tried in several fires there and stood much longer than either. For Rail Road Depots Bridges, Steam boat and Car decks, for all kinds of Iron, it forms a coating nearly as hard as the Iron itself and never cleaves off.
